He lives on in the gentle smile of a grandchild's eyes.

His love was our refuge; now let it be our strength through any storm.

Our dad taught us how to love before he showed us how to walk.

As long as we remember the lessons he imparted, a part of him will still walk these halls.

His wisdom lived deeply yet gently – a light to guide us even now.

He lifted little ones up, now let us lift each other up in his memory.

Though death stole his voice, it cannot steal the words he spoke into our souls.

Our dad lived fully, he laughed loudly, and he loved deeply - showing us how to truly live.

His final lessons remind us: live with purpose, die without regrets.

The best way to honor our beloved father is to pick up right where he left off: by loving one another.

As We Lay

As we look back over time
We find ourselves wondering. . .
Did we remember to thank you enough
For all you have done for us?
For all the times you were by our sides
To help and support us,
To celebrate our successes,
To understand our problems,
And accept our defeats?
Or for teaching us by your example,
The value of hard work, good judgment,
Courage and integrity?
We wonder if we ever thanked you
For the sacrifices you made
To let us have the very best?
And for the simple things
Like laughter, smiles and times we shared?
If we have forgotten to show our
Gratitude enough for all the things you did,
We're thanking you now.
And we are hoping you knew all along,
How much you meant to us.
